

Do you want to see the children in your school growing food but you haven't got the space, the expertise, or the time?

We have a solution - a space-saving vegetable garden that will just need regular watering and harvesting! In a whole class lesson, the children work in groups of 5 or 6 sowing or planting a variety of vegetables in hessian sacks to create a mini-allotment that they can easily look after. All lessons support the new 2014 National Curriculum and are delivered by qualified teachers.

Available February to June, £425 per day. All materials and equipment supplied for up to 3 classes.
